The Green Building Council is proud to present Sarah Susanka

Sarah Susanka, author of the The Not So Big House series, Home By Design and The Not So Big Life is bringing her “better, not bigger” message to the Greater Atlanta Home Builders Association.

In this new economy, there has been a dramatic shift in the way homebuyers evaluate their housing choices. Energy efficiency and sustainability are uppermost in buyers’ minds. People are looking for better rather than bigger homes, where “better” includes lower maintenance costs, lower utility bills, and a floor plan designed for today’s more informal lifestyles.

Susanka will discuss how to cater to the evolving needs of this more cautious homeowner and the tools needed to tap into this huge market for a better designed home.

This is a meeting you won't want to miss!
